TPAKASOLA CULTURAL CENTRE

A listed building with a difference

A building of special architectural and historic interest, representing the immeasurable cultural wealth of the city of Limassol, has been renovated as part of the Limassol Marina masterplan development in order to host multi-purpose function rooms for exhibitions, conferences and events. Situated in the heart of Limassol, this listed building hosts a great number of cultural and social events, organised by local and international corporations. Aiming to boost the city annual calendar of events and working in close liaison with the Municipality and various other active groups, TPAKASOLA Cultural Centre attracts locals, visitors and tourists throughout the year.

An establishment of historic significance

The building dates back to the early 19th century, when it initially served as a carob warehouse. Its privileged location, next to the port, used to facilitate the export of the island's "black gold", carobs, not only considered to be a primary economic activity for the city, but also an important source of income for the island itself.
